

THURSDAY, JULY 26, 1744.

Florence, July 11.

R. Man, the English Resident at this Court, received, Yesterday in the Evening, an Express from the Consul at Leghorn, with Advice, that a Detachment from Admiral Matthews's Fleet was arrived in that Port. The Resident went immediately to acquaint Prince Craon, and the Count de la Cour; and as we remark a general Agitation among our Military People, it is believed, that we are going to embark four or 5000 of the Grand Duke's Troops, that they may take the Advantage of landing in the City of Naples, in order to improve any favorable Opportunities that may offer on the Bombardment of that City. We are in the utmost Expectation of the Success of this Expedition; the only Thing that gives us Pain, is the breaking out again of the Plague in Calabria, where it makes great Ravages; tho' they dispute the Matter as well as they can, by imputing many of the Deaths to a Scarlet Fever, which is usual at this Season of the Year.

Cologne, July 7. We have received private Letters from the Army of M. Coigny, by which we understand, he was still at Haguenau on the 20th of this Month. Letters from the Army of Prince Charles, of the Rhine, say, that they have not changed their Posts since the 17th. There are other Advices, of a still later Date, from the Neighbourhood, by which we learn, that the Austrians have made themselves Masters of the Island of Solingen; by which they have entirely cut off the Communication of the Garrison of Fort Louis at Strasbourg, and the French Army. On the 21st, notwithstanding the continual Rains, they began to batter the Outworks of the Place; and still make a prodigious Progress. They would be able to do much more if they had got up 16 heavy Cannon, which are but nine from the Army; but the Waters of the Rhine have run into the Earth, so as to render the whole Country impracticable Morass, at least for heavy Carriages. On the 19th and 20th it rained without Interruption, so that in the Evening of the last mentioned Day, the Waters were a Foot higher than in the Inundation in Barbery, July 5. A Bombardier, and seven Dutch Cannoners, who have been here ever since the Surrender of Menen, going out of the Magazine with a Barrel of Powder, it some Way or other took Fire, and blew in the midst of them; we attribute this Accident to one of the Fellows having clapp'd his Pipe half out of his Pocket, when he was called upon to bear a Light. This Accident cost Seventeen People their Lives; The Bombardier, the seven Cannoners; an Austrian Corporal, four Cannoners of the same Nation, and three Children that were playing in the Magazine. The Bombardier had his Face blown to Pieces, and died the next Morning. It was a great Piece of Providence that this Accident had no worse Consequences, for they had fired 9000 Grenadiers in a Place hard by, where there were also some Hundred Barrels of Powder, which, if it had taken Fire, must have endanger'd the whole Town.

Brussels, July 31. According to some private Letters from Berlin, there are great Troubles likely to break out in Poland; where, it is said, the common Disturbances of Europe have had better Success in their Intrigues elsewhere. It is also very certain, that his Prussian Majesty has march'd a very considerable Body of Troops towards the Frontiers of that Kingdom; but what View, is not known. The Count de Podewils has actually presented a Memorial here, in relation to the Government of East-Friesland, the Contents of which are not known; but it is observed, that our Resident seemed to be pretty much embarrassed by it. In the mean time, our last Letters from Emden assure us, that the Inhabitants of that City begin to be very apprehensive of the new Administration; having been advised to beware of giving just Cause of Offence to the Prince, by making a bad Use of those Privileges and Immunities formerly conceded to them; and in which, while they behaved as became them, they should handsomely be maintained by their present Sovereign. It is thought, that our Troops in Flanders will act altogether as Auxiliaries, under particular Directions from the States; and without the appointing a Captain-General, or General of the Foot; which is what our Agents labour by all Means to prevent.

THE Elements of ALGEBRA, in a
New and Easy Method; with their Use and Application, in the Solution of a great Variety of Arithmetical and Geometrical Questions, by General and Universal Rules. To which is prefix'd, An Introduction containing a succinct History of this Science.

By Mr. NATHANIEL HAMMOND, of the Bank.
Extract from the Accounts of this Book in the Works of the Learned.
"The World has long complained of the Want of a proper Introduction to Algebra. Some are so very concise, as if they were contrived not to teach but introduce a Teacher; others again are larger, but wrote with so little Condescension to the Understandings of such as are altogether unacquainted with the Science, that they are of very little Use to those who are most inclined to make use of them. Whence it comes to pass, that few find it practicable to make any Progress in Algebra without a Master, tho' certainly the Science in itself is far from surpassing a clear Head, and a tolerable Understanding.
"The Design of this Treatise, which is of a reasonable Bulk, and which contains nothing which is not solid, and to the Purpose, is to assist such as are engaged in teaching Algebra with a regular Method, and a large Stock of Examples; so that their Scholars may find Employment in their Absence; and to enable such as live in Country-Places, and must consequently want all other Tutors, except Books, to acquire such a Skill in this Science, as may enable them to spend a Portion of their Time agreeably in the Cultivation of their better Parts, and in rendering a natural Method of enquiring after Truth habitual.
"The Treatise begins with a copious Explication of the Fundamental Principles of the Art, and of the Signs and Method of Notation used therein. The Author then proceeds to the several Rules, explaining them carefully and copiously in all their various Cases; so that with a moderate Attention it is simply impossible for a Person, who desires to be Master of Algebra, to miss of his End.
"We never find this Writer advancing any thing out of its proper Place, or burthening the Mind of his Scholar with Rules, before they become necessary: He professes to have imitated the judicious Euclid in this Respect; and he has done it with equal Art and Felicity. By this means he has delivered the young Student in Algebra from that which is usually the most fatiguing Part of the Science, viz. The Doctrine of Surds, in the Manner in which it is usually taught. By the same Means he leads his Reader directly to Equations; and, by shewing him the Profit he will reap from this Science, encourages him to overcome all its Difficulties. But having thus laid a strong and rational Foundation, he moves more slowly through the rest of his Work, that whoever follows him, may be obliged to become Master of every Branch of the Art, so as to be a complete Algebraist, before he quits his Book, and not a Smatterer.
"Quadratic Equations, and the Art of managing Converging Series, the admirable Invention of the incomparable Newton, are here so clearly explained, and their several Cases so plainly set down, and so thoroughly explicated, that it may be truly said, there are no where else such Instructions to be met with. At the Close of the Book, we find abundance of Observations, necessary for enlightening such Minds as are willing to proceed still farther in analytic Discoveries; so that considering the Compass of this Work, and that too is very moderate, it is as complete as possibly can be expected: And he who is thoroughly versed in it, will find no great Difficulties, when he proceeds to sublimer Studies. The Language is plain and natural, the Book is more copious than any other in Examples, and the Illustrations of them are so full and clear, that it is impossible to mistake their Meaning.

BALSAMICK STYPTICK
Truly prepared and sold at the Doctor's late Dwelling House, now Mrs. DUTTON's, in Salisbury-lane, Fleet-street.

THIS Medicine restrains, in a most surprising Manner, all internal as well as external Hemorrhages, i. e. it infallibly and quickly stops all dangerous Bleedings at the Nose or Gums, spitting or vomiting Blood; also the immoderate Flux of the Hemorrhoids or Piles; bloody Urine or Stools, bleeding of large Wounds, &c. (if used according to the plain Directions given with it) will appear by the Certificates of several famous Physicians, and in the large Account of this Medicine, written by the Doctor himself, and dedicated to the College of Physicians a little before his Death.
It keeps good for many Years, at Sea or on Shore, in all Climates; therefore must be universally Useful.
The Doctor not only obtaining his Majesty's Letter Patent for the sole Vending of this most Excellent Medicine; but also a Clause in a late Act of Parliament, exempting the Medicine from the Inspection of the Council of the College of Physicians, to which all other Medicines are liable.
N.B. The late Learned Dr. CHEYNE, in his Excellent Piece, intitled The Natural Method of curing the Diseases of the Body, &c. prefers EATON'S STYPTICK to Helvetius's and other Stypticks; and speaks of it as follows:—"Every one knows the agglutinating Quality of sweet Blood, and I apprehend it is to this, that EATON'S Styptic owes its mild, soothing Efficacy. It is more mild, soothing, and soft, than the mildest Steel Preparations, and will patch a Hole, or grieve up a Rupture, or give a stop to the acrid and inflamed flowing Blood of the Piles, &c. says, he is confirmed in this by a Physician of great Skill, and Candor, who has great Opportunities of dealing with Cases, by his Practice in Midwifery. See p. 106."
